The Salesian Sisters of Don Bosco in the Holy land established a Novitiate House at the convent of Creman, Beit Jala in 1961. At the time, it also began a small youth center as part of an outreach program for isolated Bethlehem youth and surrounding Palestinian villages. This program proved to be a great success as both Christian and Muslim youth were brought together in an environment of equality, love and tolerance; the Sisters combined both the youth center outreach program and a kindergarten class into the "Laura Vicuna School", which was founded in 2007 and based on these same principles. Today, the Laura Vicuna School has 254 pupils enrolled in addition to 7 full-time and 3 part-time teachers from Bethlehem.

Project Description

The Palestinian Ministry of Education is requiring all Palestinian schools in the West Bank to introduce modern technology in classrooms and administrations. The Laura Vicuna School in Beit Jala is among many private Christian Palestinian schools that offers quality education but a reduced tuition, catering towards poor households in Bethlehem (that are unable to afford tuition at other schools and its tuition fees are the lowest among the Christian Schools in the area). As a result of reduced tuition costs, the school administration is unable to upgrade its systems without support from donors. Laura Vicuna School needs 4 Smart boards in 6 classrooms that would improve learning instruction for both teachers and students. CNEWA-PMP requests assistance from KHS-Holland in the total amount of EURO 6,000.
