Maison du Sacre Coeur or 'House of the Sacred Heart' was originally built as a Catholic school run by the Daughters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul but closed and later reopened in 1975 to serve children with special needs. Since then, the Home has gradually been remodeled to suit the needs of its residents - 60 severely physically and mentally handicapped children aged 3 - 22 years old and from different religious and social backgrounds. The Home provides specialized therapy including physical, speech, music and sensory therapy in addition to residency for the handicapped children. Around 200 children also attend the Home's specialized day care center located in the same compound. Four Daughters of Charity Sisters and 105 professional staff currently operate Maison du Sacre Couer.
